This Regional Surgery Series will be practical and interactive case-based seminars covering:

Upper airway assessment and decision-making

Presented by Professor Giselle Hosgood BVSc, MS, PhD, FACVSc, Dipl. ACVS

With summer fast approaching, reviewing the key features in assessment of the upper airway is important. Practical tools in assessing and differentiating brachycephalic airway obstruction from laryngeal collapse and laryngeal paralysis will be presented. Techniques in emergency airway management and routine brachycephalic airway surgery will be presented using case examples.

Tibial fractures: decision-making and treatment options

Presented by Associate Professor Mark Glyde BVSc, MACVSc, MVS, HDipUTL, DiplomateECVS

Tibial fractures are a common occurrence in small animals. Open fractures are common and tibial fractures are over-represented as a site of complication after fracture repair. This seminar will use case examples to enable practitioners to refine their fracture decision-making skills and to review practical options for tibial fracture repair. The importance of the integrity of the soft tissue fracture envelope, influence of tibial anatomy on fracture management, practical fracture repair hints and tips including the use of minimally invasive repair techniques will be reviewed.
