

RCVS Council Elections 2019

Candidate biography

1991 Called for legal action against junk pet-food makers and vet enablers due to their wilful, relentless and unconscionable cruelty.

1993 Dr Douglas Bryden, Director of Sydney University Postgraduate Foundation in Veterinary Science commissioned the book chapter Preventative Dentistry in which was published legal opinion regarding possible proceedings against vets.

2001 Dr Tom Hungerford OBE wrote:

Thanks for the book - BRAVO

Tell the people who won't review their views that: 'The foolish and the dead never change their opinions.' Maybe that is an overstatement - as the 'brain-dead' may also refuse to revise.

Anyhow there are many who adopt the stance of: 'Don't confuse me with facts, my mind is made up.'

Congratulations on the book.

2016 436 RCVS voters supported the call for:

Legal proceedings against the RCVS, junk food companies, veterinary schools and individuals in respect to animal cruelty, breach of contract, theft and fraud.

2018 Vet academic wrote:

I just wanted you to know that I vote for you every council election and I'm really sorry that you don't get on to the council and I ADMIRE your persistence! Hang in there — one day folks will see that you were right.

2019 23rd consecutive RCVS election.

Candidate manifesto

The obscure we see eventually. The completely obvious, it seems, takes longer. Edward Murrow

Power tends to corrupt, and absolute power corrupts absolutely. Lord Acton

Everyone knows that junk food impairs health. For carnivores it's worse. Carnivores need the texture and bulk of raw meaty bones to clean teeth and stimulate brain and digestive systems. Unfortunately many RCVS accredited vet schools, rather than champion pet health; maintain a Faustian pact with the junk merchants.

Most schools brainwash vulnerable students with blatant propaganda. Scaremongering about diets ordained by nature — whole carcasses or next best raw meaty bones — schools enforce their group-think. Several schools provide junk food company access to students in return for ‘sponsorship’. Marketing scams posing as ‘research’ give junk food companies a protective cordon and innocence by association.

Deliberately, knowingly forcing animals to consume industrial junk is cruel and criminal. Brainwashing, and thus defrauding, students with junk food derived and therefore bogus ‘evidence based medicine’ claptrap leads to massive over servicing. Pet owners are cheated and defrauded.

Alas this cesspool of ignorance and incompetence permeates the entire veterinary endeavour. Clearly we need a Mueller to investigate and prosecute. For the vet associations and various hangers-on, we need a Truth and Reconciliation Commission. Desmond Tutu might advise.

Meanwhile, back in your practice, please give your carnivore patients the best chance of a healthy life. Please ensure a whole carcass or raw meaty bones diet for puppies and kittens. For all carnivore patients please ensure a natural diet, fix the vile mouth rot and curb the obesity — often that’s the only treatment and disease prevention required.
